Mills Get Busier and Bigger Here; the only Thing Wrong is They Can't Fill All the Orders

It is a sign of the times when Eastern newspapers wake up to think there should be a change somewhere in conditions under which "immigrants" regard this country merely as a station where they change cars before entering United States.

Los Angeles' motto of last week may have to be imported for certain dangerous street intersections and school corners here: "SAFETY WITH BRAKES—AND SAVE THE FLOWERS"

More high records in the lumber industry here, with an export for November from this district running up to between eleven and twelve million feet. The last record was 10,000,000 feet. One mill alone in this city is filling foreign orders this month for 4,165,000 feet.

Bookings by Douglas fir mills, which have been running heavily in excess of normal and of production, took a sharp decline when they registered 9 per cent. below production, says the American Lumberman in its survey of conditions this week.

The reason for this decline appears to have been largely inability on the part of mills to accept all orders, ON ACCOUNT OF THEIR HEAVY OVERBOOKED CONDITION.

Water business continues to play a dominant role on the West Coast, during the latest period covered by statistics, having constituted 50 per cent. of the entire bookings. More than half of this water business was for foreign account. Stocks remain poog and prices are strong, those on boards, timbers and dimensions having advanced.

Washington at the end of the week gathered figures on the state of the lumber industry. The West Coast Lumbermen's Association reported production was 22 per cent. ABOVE NORMAL, new business 4 per cent. BELOW PRODUCTION and shipments 4 per cent. ABOVE NEW BUSINESS.

There is nothing pessimistic in that for our outlook. Remember, this island holds the last great standing body of timber on this continent.

What's one man's gain is another's loss in this life of compensations.

The joy of motorists and fuel oil consumers over the recent big cuts in gasoline and oil is counterbalanced by the sadness of oil company stockholders. Since last Spring the market value of the securities of seventeen leading companies in the industry on this continent has declined $278,000,000, many of them now worth less than half what they were.

Just how you like it depends on whether you are interested chiefly as a consumer or are at the receiving end.

Oil men say their troubles now are due to too much oil. But along with this a professor geologist suddenly appears on the front pages and modestly tells how he has found "the greatest oil field in the world without exception, now in process of development in Southern Alberta." There will be another flood of invitations to "share" in the new wealth that is to flow.

It is still true that no man ever went broke by holding his Standard Oil securities; but, beware wild cat oil schemes. There are too many worth while investment opportunities loomed in this Province with the turn of the tide, for Canadians to be taking remote and long chances. Don't waste your money; proven resources here are beginning to call for lots of it for legitimate development.

VOTERS TO BE HEARD ON REDISTRIBUTION; NO PLANS READY YET

Select Committee From Both Sides of House to Consider Redistribution and Hear Electors; Pooley's Indignation Meeting Premature, Premier Says; Member Going Off at Half-Cock Before Any Proposals Are Made

Redistribution of British Columbia electoral constituencies will be placed in the hands of a select committee of the Legislature shortly, Premier Hon. John Oliver announced to-day.

No legislation on redistribution has been prepared and reports published on the subject are premature, the Premier added.

No definite proposals on the subject are "in existence" yet, he declared.

Before redistribution legislation is passed the electors of any constituency will be able to appear before the select committee considering the matter, and make whatever representations they wish, the Premier stated.

Mr. Oliver declared that the action of R. H. Pooley, Conservative member for Esquimalt, in calling an indignation meeting to protest against the elimination of the Esquimalt riding was premature.

"Mr. Pooley," he said, "is going off at half-cock."

"I have noticed that Mr. Pooley is calling an indignation meeting, to be held at Esquimalt this evening, for the purpose of protesting against the elimination of Esquimalt under the new Redistribution Bill," the Premier said.

No Redistribution Bill has yet been prepared, the Premier stated. When such a bill is prepared and submitted to the Legislature, he said, it is the intention of the Government to refer it to a select committee composed of members from both sides of the House.

It is my understanding that the electors of Esquimalt or any other constituency will have an opportunity to be heard in respect to any representations they may wish to make in regard to the Redistribution Bill," the Premier declared.

Mr. Oliver expressed the opinion that the action of the Esquimalt member was "somewhat premature" in calling an indignation meeting at the present time when, as a matter of fact, no proposals are in existence.

MELBOURNE SPECIAL POLICE TOTAL 5,000

Strike of Regular Police Leads to Violence

Two Persons Were Killed and Number Injured

Melbourne, Nov. 5.—A mob of rowdies to-night attacked a body of special constables placed on duty in the northern part of the city to maintain order during the police strike and in the subsequent fighting two of the constables and a number of the rioters were injured. Conditions are unsettled in other outlying districts, but the centre of the city was quiet up to 9 o'clock to-night.

Five Thousand Constables

Melbourne, Nov. 5.—Conditions in Melbourne were normal this morning and the city authorities asserted the situation was satisfactory.

In response to the Government's appeal to all able-bodied men of military age, 5,000 special constables have been enrolled.

Arrangements have been completed for proclaiming a state of violence if necessary, after which the forces of the Commonwealth would be used to preserve order.

The city courts have convicted many persons of looting.

The enrolling of special constables was undertaken as a result of rioting on Saturday, during which two persons were killed and many injured.

It is estimated that damage done during the rioting will aggregate £100,000.

STATES U.S. HAS CLOSE INTEREST IN WORLD SETTLEMENT

MYRON T. HERRICK,
U.S. Ambassador to France

Paris, Nov. 5.—Much interest has been aroused by Ambassador Herrick's declaration at a war memorial dedication at Navarin Farm yesterday that the people of the United States, having put their hands to the plough, were "willing to run the furrow through," knowing that "if the present problem is not solved—and justly and quickly solved—then truly America will have fought the war in vain."

"Because of the things we fought for, because of the things we hoped for, because of the things our men died for," the Ambassador said, "whether we like it or not, our lot now is cast in with the other nations to a very considerable extent."

When the body was found it was discovered the limbs were horribly mutilated and the body was partly burned.

Winnipeg, Nov. 5.—The daughter of F. C. Tolstrup, a well-known farmer of the Raymond district.

In a short time after the discovery of the body, the daughter of the farmer was found.

Members of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, Alberta Provincial Police and Lethbridge city police were scouring the south country for Blackhorse.

People Angry

The whole south country is greatly stirred over the murder. The murdered girl was one of the most popular in the district and every farmer in the country is carrying a gun.

Indian trackers are assisting the police in the man hunt.

Firemen Seek

Old Salary Scale

Ask For Restoration to Figure of 1922

Will the City Council restore the salaries of the firemen to the 1922 schedule? That problem will be presented by a formal application to be read to the council this evening from the local Firemen's Union. The union asks the restoration of the scale which was cut in February, when the estimates were going through.

It was thought at that time there would be a general prunip, and such pruning was applied to the outside workers.

The majority of the police commissioners, however, declined to cut the salaries of policemen, so the scheme in collapsed.

Those services which did experience a cut feel that there should now be a restoration of the schedule, hence the application which has now been formally lodged.

The firemen, it was proposed, were to receive a fifteen per cent. cut, but on consultation, Alderman Andros, chairman of the fire wardens, secured a compromise of ten per cent., at which the present figure stands.

Transprovincial Highway

The council will be asked in a resolution to approve the Fraser Canyon route of the transprovincial highway. Some members of the council will favor approving the principle of the highway, but not expressing any opinion on the best route to be followed. Almost all municipalities have been asked by the aggressive organization at Kamloops to express an opinion on the matter, and some have done so, others holding that an opinion on the principle is as far as they should go.

CABINET CHANGES

MADE IN ALBERTA

Portfolios Rearranged to Relieve Premier of Too Heavy Duties

Edmonton, Nov. 5.—The following changes in portfolios in the Government of Alberta have been made:

Hon. H. Greenfield, Premier, formerly Provincial Treasurer and Secretary, becomes Minister of Municipal Affairs.

Hon. J. E. Brownlee adds the duties of Provincial Secretary to those of Attorney-General.

Hon. George Hoadley becomes Minister of Public Health in addition to holding his present portfolio of Agriculture.

Hon. R. G. Reid, formerly Minister of Municipal Affairs, becomes Provincial Treasurer.

This rearrangement of portfolios was decided upon in order to relieve the pressure of work upon the Premier.

Foreign Policy

Under these circumstances it is not considered likely that any strikingly important departure will be made in such a question as the participation of the Dominions in the formulation of the foreign policy. When the meeting is held in private and the day-to-day foreign policy, along with the remaining business on the programme, will be discussed and decided.

INDIAN IS HUNTED FOLLOWING MURDER

Body of Raymond, Alberta, Girl Was Found in Straw-Stack

Whole District Greatly Stirred by the Crime

Lethbridge, Nov. 5.—So far the police dragnet has not caught Joe Blackhorse, the Blood Indian wanted for the murder of sixteen-year-old Winnie Tolstrup, a Raymond High School girl whose charred remains were found in a strawstack over three miles from that town at midnight Sunday, more than twenty-four hours after the slaying.

Police from all forces in Southern Alberta are engaged in the manhunt, and the search is concentrating on the Blood Reserve, where Blackhorse was last seen Saturday morning. To-day the cow mine owned by Blackhorse, fifteen miles northwest of Raymond, is to be searched. The Blood is known as a bad Indian and shooting is expected when the police come up with him.

Two theories are held by the police. One is that the Indian killed the girl in a fit of rage over the fact that she had only $10 to pay him for a load of coal when $12 was the price. The other is that he committed a criminal assault and then murdered the girl to hide the crime.

Mutilated

When the body was found it was discovered the limbs were horribly mutilated and the body was partly burned.

FOUR NATIONS UPHOLD REPARATIONS INQUIRY FRANCE DISAPPROVES

Britain, Belgium, Italy and United States Agree Investigation in Germany Should Be Free and Full, But Premier Poincare Reiterates Statements Indicating French Insist on Limitations

Washington, Nov. 5.—State Department advices to-day indicated that Great Britain, Italy and Belgium have reached an accord favoring a free and full reparations inquiry by an expert committee.

In effect the position of these three Governments as understood here coincides with that taken by the United States and opposes the stand for a restricted inquiry taken by France.

Brussels, Nov. 5.—The situation with regard to the proposed international reparations conference is viewed pessimistically in Belgian Government quarters, but it is hoped that an exchange of views will result in clearing matters so that the meeting can be held.

Jusserand in Washington

Washington, Nov. 5.—Ambassador Jusserand of France, who has just returned to the United States from France, was expected to call on Secretary Hughes to-day for a conference, which promises to go far toward clarifying in the minds of Washington officials the French position with respect to restricting the scope of the proposed inquiry into the reparations question.

Coming direct from the French capital, Ambassador Jusserand was believed to be in a position to interpret more definitely the intent and purpose of the restrictions which unofficial reports have indicated his Government desires to place on the proposed economic committee's investigation.

Talked With Poincare

Paris, Nov. 5.—Ambassador Jusserand will verbally communicate to Secretary Hughes the attitude of the French Government in the reparations negotiations, governing himself by his talk with Premier Poincare before he sailed and by information sent the French Embassy in Washington since. He will deliver a note, it was said at the Foreign Office this morning. The latest instructions from the Foreign Office went forward Saturday.

As Stated Before

Paris, Nov. 5.—Premier Poincare, in an address at Brive yesterday, reaffirmed the French Government's unshakable determination not to accept any reduction whatsoever in the German debt of 132,000,000,000 gold marks fixed by the London Conference in 1921.

The Premier's declarations were strictly along the lines of his previous utterances on the reparations question, taking no cognizance of any new factor in the way of international negotiations in which the United States may be included.

Government's Attitude

While no official announcement has been made on this point, it is believed in diplomatic circles that M. Poincare's speech reflects the French Government's position.

Signs of weakening Belgian support of the French viewpoint are admitted freely everywhere. The (Concluded on page 15.)

STORES IN BERLIN WERE PLUNDERED

Chief Victims of New Outburst Were Jews

Rump Cabinet Trying to Solve the Problems

London, Nov. 5.—A Central News dispatch from Berlin says a number of attacks were made to-day on shops in various quarters of the city, including the fashionable district. Many places were plundered before the police controlled the situation. The chief victims were Jews, the dispatch says.

Cabinet's Attitude

Berlin, Nov. 5.—Neither President Ebert nor Chancellor Stresemann appears inclined to view the existing parliamentary crisis precipitated by the Socialists as demanding a quick solution. Information given out at official quarters was to the effect that the Chancellor and his rump Cabinet just now were more deeply concerned with the economic situation, and the further crashing of the mark and the increase in unemployment.

Question of Form of Rule in Greece Has Been Shelved

London, Nov. 5.—The contradictory nature of the reports from Athens concerning a suggested change in the Greek constitution is apparently due to censorship, but the latest statements from usually reliable sources indicate that the establishment of a republic in Greece is certainly not immediately impending. The Athens correspondent of The Daily Mail says the question has been definitely shelved for the present.

French Are Policing Kaiserslauten After Separatists' Effort

Berlin, Nov. 5.—The Separatists have begun a movement to control the Bavarian Palatinate. A large band entered Kaiserslauten last night and attacked the Town Hall. They were repulsed, but then occupied one of the Government buildings and a newspaper office. At an early hour this morning French soldiers were clearing the streets.

2,000 Men in New York Fought Against Police

New York, Nov. 5.—A riot in which two policemen were stabbed and an assailant shot, spread over three blocks in Harlem's "Little Italy" Sunday afternoon when 2,000 men battled with the police. The riot was caused by the arrest of a poolroom hanger-on who refused to move. The riot was at its height when a police officer, at its height was participated in by twenty policemen, and the district was demoralized for an hour.

ALBERTANS VOTE ON LIQUOR QUESTION

Sale of Beverages or Continued Prohibition Being Decided

Result of Balloting May Not Be Known To-night

Calgary, Nov. 5 (Canadian Press).—In 3,000 polling stations the men and women of Alberta to-day are formulating the liquor legislation which will rule in the province for a period of years. The weather is fine and mild, the roads are good, the referendum has been thoroughly discussed for some months, with a good deal of public interest, and a very representative vote is expected.

The polls in the rural parts will close at 5 p.m. and those in the cities at 8 p.m.

Great Vote Expected

Reports from every point in the province state the fine weather prevailing in Calgary extends all over Alberta. Forecasts are being made that fully ninety per cent. of the vote entitled to be cast in the Province will be polled. If this proves correct, the biggest vote in the history (Concluded on page 2.)

NEW PARTY IN SWEDEN OPPOSES PROHIBITION

FEARED GASOLINE BOATS AND PERSONS ABOARD WERE LOST

Week in Number of Municipalities

London, Nov. 5.—Thirty or forty Scottish towns will go to the polls this week to decide the prohibition issue for their localities. The campaign of the "wets" and the "drys" has been in progress in these places with fiery intensity for several weeks past. The "drys" hope to secure better support than in 1920 when only Kirkcaldy and Killybeg abolished liquor licenses within their jurisdiction. The "wets" in these places have been making desperate efforts to bring their fellow townsmen back to their traditional freedom in the matter of beverages.

Ottawa, Nov. 5.—In commenting on the decision of the Cabinet not to grant a postponement or otherwise interfere with the sentence of death on the two Eskimos on Herschel Island, the Department of Justice expressed the view that a number of representations had been addressed to the Government by persons, evidently misled by erroneous reports of facts.

nothing of our law," the Department statement continued, "is absolutely unfounded."

"In this connection it may be recalled that only a few years ago two other Eskimos were convicted for having murdered two priests. For those two the death sentences were commuted, but the clemency does not appear to have had any beneficial effect. The number of murders now committed by the Eskimos is surprising, and in the opinion of those conversant with conditions in the North it is to the best interest of law and order that the present sentences be carried out."

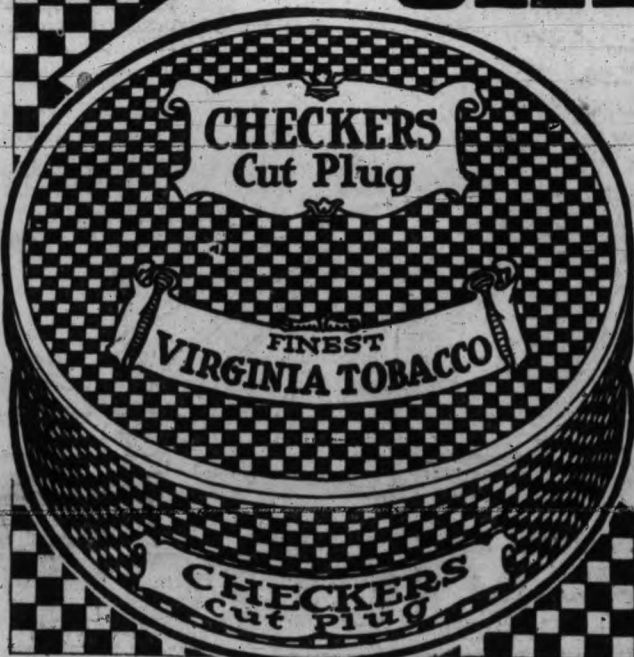

Unwarranted Statements
"Popular indignation has been aroused, particularly in Toronto, by totally unwarranted statements. For instance, it has been reported that one of the prisoners is a boy of sixteen, whereas, according to consensus of reliable opinion from the North, he must be between twenty and twenty-five years old."

"It has also been specially claimed that graves were dug for the condemned Eskimos before a sentence of death was pronounced. Such is not the case. The graves referred to were dug for the reinterment of the remains of the late Sgt. Zieg and

WOULD HELP B.C.

Since he arrived on the Coast, Hon. Jacques Bureau, Minister of Customs, has been hearing much about the need of a Canadian customs officer being stationed in New York. This is not a new story. In fact it figuratively wears a full crop of whiskers, because it has been the subject of persistent representation to Ottawa from the Boards of Trade of this Province for many years. The object of having a Canadian customs officer in New York is to facilitate the movement of freight originating in Eastern Canada and intended for British Columbia and sent to New York in bond for transshipment there on vessels bound for the Pacific Coast by way of the Panama Canal. Curiously enough, such freight coming by this route has to pay duty on its arrival at British Columbia ports, a disability to which this Province does not propose to submit as far as its resources of protest and contest go. Powerful influences have been able to prevent the establishment of a Canadian customs representative in New York. Our transcontinental railroads not unnaturally see in the Panama Canal water route between Atlantic and Pacific ports a formidable competitor, but as a matter of fact anything which will develop fresh commerce between Eastern and Western Canada or will improve general business conditions in British Columbia eventually will help our railroads. Direct steamship connection between Eastern and Western Canada has been offered as a substitute, but while this is a welcome innovation it cannot be as frequent as the connections which would be open to us if we were able to use the numerous services which operate out of New York. We are looking to Mr. Bureau and his colleagues to dispose of this question satisfactorily and thereby shed the great white light of unfavorable contrast upon the failure of their predecessors to do so.

UNDER NO PLEDGE

Britain's commander in the occupied area at Cologne let it be distinctly understood by the German Separatists recently that the region under his jurisdiction will not be exposed to the exploitation of Herr Joseph Matthes and his followers. These latter have taken umbrage at this decision on the part of General Godley and Matthes has warned Lord Kilmarnock, British member of the Rhineland Commission, that he will take "further action" to show the "resentment of the Separatists against the attitude of the British." What form this "attitude" will take is not disclosed in the dispatch received from Cologne today. The announcement is perhaps intended to give a German idea of how Britain should view the Rhineland and Bavarian movements.

Great Britain and the British Dominions are in no way pledged to preserve the unity of Germany. British interest in the domestic troubles which are now facing the debtor nation lies in peace and order and the revival of European prosperity. At the same time lack of vested interest in German unity, save in so far as that unity may accelerate the economic restoration of Germany and consequently a return to more normal conditions generally, is no suggestion that there is a gleeful interest, either in the disruption of Germany or in the creation of a state of things which, in the long run, would only bring the states together again under some form of military government and influence—upon which confederacy was originally founded—for the purpose of revenge against France. There is therefore sound reason why at least the Cologne area should not be exposed to the disintegrating process. And it should always be remembered that the Bavarian and the Rhineland and the Prussian are all Germans where the interests of France are concerned. Ethnological distinctions are really intriguing only as they apply to internal autonomy.

MR. BOWSER'S "ALSO RANS"

What does Mr. Bowser imagine constitutes a race? Does he consider that interest centres in the start or in the finish? We were always under the impression that the biggest crowd is always to the front at the winning post. But he seems to have a peculiar outlook of his own. He doesn't care a rap about how the appeals which the Province has had occasion to take to the Privy Council have turned out as long as he can throw out his chest with the pride of having started them. Of course it is not difficult to understand this peculiar point of view because the Leader of the Opposition started twelve and only won four of them. Firing the pistol for the level dozen no doubt gave Mr. Bowser a real thrill. Mr. Farris was nowhere in it in the starting game; all he could do was stage a winning finish in respect of six out of the seven cases with which he had to deal.

SPLITTING STRAWS FOR WHAT?

France does not intend to allow any outside agency to draw up a new reparations bill for Germany that is less than $33,000,000,000. Her consent to take part in a Conference of experts is based mainly upon its acceptance of this condition beforehand. She wants Germany's "present capacity to pay," not what the debtor nation might be able to pay twelve months hence, to be the fundamental condition of the economic inquiry. That one word "present" is preventing an agreement on the terms of the note to which Great Britain and France are desirous of subscri-

ing. Premier Poincare insists that it be inserted. It would be a thousand pities if the attitude of France—and it is obvious that the Government and the people are of one mind—should prevent the inquiry and discourage American participation. For it must follow that even the Quai d'Orsay might profit by the collection of much more valuable information than it has at present, information that might indicate how either the $33,000,000,000, or a somewhat modified sum, could be paid. The attitude which the French Government continues to adopt—right and just as it may be—is not based upon demonstrated fact. The committee of experts should be able to produce it.

GETTING ORGANIZED

Several weeks have elapsed since Sir George Foster came to Victoria and urged this community to do its part in advancing the cause of peace by forming a local branch of the League of Nations Society of Canada. We shall take it for granted that there are already agencies at work upon the proposal; but we would suggest that everything that can be done towards the desired end should be done while the enthusiasm which Sir George obviously aroused may still be capitalized to the fullest possible extent. Vancouver held a meeting in the City Hall a few days ago and an initial pledged membership of 400 could have been easily doubled or trebled on the spot if larger premises had been taken for the gathering. As it was the limited capacity of civic precincts was taxed as it had never been taxed before—a sign at least that our neighbors across the gulf are anxious that British Columbia's largest city shall not lag in the performance of its duty. The capital is not likely to be left behind.

Note and Comment

Before Mr. Lloyd George left the United States he said there would come a time when Canada would have a population of 300,000,000. We believe him; but regret we shall not be able to stay long enough to count 'em.

Mr. Oliver has asked Mr. Bowser if he can deny that there is an understanding between Hon. H. H. Stevens and General McRae. No doubt the Leader of the Opposition will reply to the effect that he will give the matter his early consideration.

Herr Matthes is going to take "further action" to show his resentment at the British Rhineland commander's action towards the Separatists. This ambitious gentleman may get into trouble if the "further action" which he promises should not conform to General Godley's view of requirements in the Cologne region.

Ambassador Harvey said to newspapermen at Southampton just before he left on Saturday that there was nothing left for him to do in Britain and that "it is better that I should go home and work for the cause of British friendship." He is devoting himself to a worthy ambition. May his labors be abundantly fruitful.

Mr. Lloyd George told them in New York that all would be well if they would follow through and keep their eye on the ball. Mr. Winston Churchill would call this something approaching a terminological inexactitude. Our impression would be that better results could be obtained by reversing the exhortation. Keep your eye on the ball and follow through would seem to hit the Lloyd-Georgian idea more correctly. However we appreciate the former Prime Minister's meaning.

Some Thoughts for To-day

Silence is only commendable
In a neat's tongue dried and a maid not vendible.
Shakespeare.

You know I say
Just what I think, and nothing more nor less.
And, when I pray, my heart is in my prayer.
I cannot say one thing and mean another;
If I can't pray, I will not make believe.
Longfellow.

For enemies carry about slander not in the form in which It took its rise. The scandal of men
Is everlasting; even then does it survive when you
Would suppose it to be dead.
Plautus.

I may not here omit those two main plagues,
And common dotages of human kind, wine and women,
Which have infatuated and besotted myriads
of people;
They go commonly together.

RE GREAT WAR MEMORIAL

To the Editor:—To remove what appears to be a misunderstanding, would you be so good as to allow space for the following?

The proceeds from the naval and military ball on Monday, November 12, are to be devoted towards a permanent memorial for our glorious dead. It is the intention of the committee that the form that this will take and its location is to be decided by a popular vote.

Memorial Avenue Committee,

VACCINATION

To the Editor:—May I ask for a little space in your paper re Dr. Price's letter on vaccination. I lived twenty-five years in London, England, trained there and nursed till I married in 1881. My husband and eldest son passed away in '91 leaving me with a boy two years of age for whose sake I came to Canada in 1895 and nursed here privately and in the hospitals. I was in London, England through several outbreaks, but fortunately never took smallpox although I had never been vaccinated since infancy. If then, I have never seen any good come of vaccination, but much harm. I had a niece whose life was ruined by it and know of other cases the same. For seventeen years I have never tasted medicine of any kind, employed any material remedies or a doctor for myself; never had any vaccine or serum put into me and I never shall. My physician never makes mistakes. I am now turned seventy-five years old and think I can favorably compare with any old lady my age who is under materia medica.
MRS. J. D. SINCLAIR,
871 McClure Street, Victoria, B.C.

EXEMPT IMPROVEMENTS

To the Editor:—The time has at last arrived for the Government to carry out its pledge of exempting improvements from taxation. In the Liberal platform printed after the Revelstoke convention of 1913 occurs the following: "Exemption of improvements on all lands paying taxes to the Provincial Government." In the Speech from the Throne, October 29, 1923, occurs the following paragraph: "It is proposed to reduce the rate of taxation on real and personal property and you will be asked to consider other changes in the Taxation Act." It is true that improvements on farms have been exempted up to $1,500, but both assessment and rate have been enormously increased. Instead of getting relief the amount now paid is much higher than before the exemption. Besides, small holdings that cannot be classed as farms do not share in the exemption. The promise in the platform refers to all lands, large or small.

As the Government has now been in power seven years and admits to vacating its way clear to reduce taxation, it is to be hoped that there will be no deviation from the policy long ago laid down and repeatedly endorsed by the people. The farmers have long been unanimous on the subject.

I have often acted as delegate to the farmers' institute conventions, and whatever difference farmers had on other subjects they always passed the resolution for the exemption of improvements without a dissenting voice. The time is rotten-ripe for voice.

I've Never Found Its Equal

A CANADIAN cook who only recently used Carnation, writes: "I've never found its equal." She recognizes Carnation's economical and convenient Pure Milk Service.

Remember, Carnation is twice as rich as whole milk because it contains twice the proportion of cream. It is just 100 per cent cows' milk reduced to the consistency of cream. Nothing is added, not even sugar.

The high quality of Carnation is due to the excellence of the fresh milk used and to the extreme care exercised in every department of the modern Carnation condenseries.

Use Carnation for every milk and cream purpose—as whole milk, as cream with coffee, cocoa, fruits and cereals. Ask your grocer to deliver a supply today and convince yourself.

IN WOMAN'S DOMAIN

HOUSE WEDDING WAS PRETTY CEREMONY

Miss Letitia Woods and Mr. Fred Richardson Married Saturday

Nearly 100 guests were present on Saturday evening at the pretty wedding at the home of Major and Mrs. Fred Richardson, 133 Cook Street, which united in marriage their son, Mr. Fred Richardson, and Miss Letitia Woods, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Woods, of 540 Johnson Street. The reception rooms were prettily arranged with autumn flowers, while the ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Davies beneath a wedding bell of amethyst and chrysanthemums.

Mr. Woods gave his daughter in marriage, she looking charming in a gown of steel-headed pearl grey georgette with hat of grey panne velvet trimmed with silver lace and French flowers. She carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses. Miss Amy Richardson, the bridesmaid, wore a gown of pale pink georgette, sequin-trimmed, with hat of pale pink and a bouquet of pink carnations and ferns. Mr. C. Truett Kent, of Vancouver, was best man. At the reception following the ceremony, Mrs. Richardson was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Percy Richardson and Mrs. Postgate Power.

Among the many beautiful presents received by the young couple was a silver casserole from the traffic department of the B.C. Telephone Company, where the bride has been employed for the past six years.

Mr. and Mrs. Richardson left on the midnight boat for Vancouver, the bride traveling in a suit of black chiffon velvet and silver fox fur, with black velvet hat trimmed with feathers. On their return they will take up their residence at 133 Cook Street.

At "Breadalbane" on Saturday afternoon the Rev. Dr. Campbell celebrated the marriage of Mr. Gerald Joseph Fagan, of Tacoma, and Miss Emily Lillian Wilkinson, of this city. The bride was charming in a traveling suit of navy blue with hat on suite, and was attended as bridesmaid by Miss Phyllis Appleby. The best man was Mr. Matthew Fagan, the bridegroom's brother. Mr. and Mrs. Fagan left after the ceremony by the evening boat for Tacoma where they will make their home.

A delightful fancy dress Halloween party was held on Friday night at Uppingsham House School, York Place, when pupils and friends of the school gathered for the traditional merry-making connected with the witches' festival. The large hall and reception rooms were gay with orange and black streamers, black cat masks, while glowing autumn berries and foliage were also used with good effect. Games and dancing were enjoyed by the young revelers, a delicious supper being served during the course of the evening.

The prize for the guessing contest, arranged by Mrs. Campbell, was won by Mrs. Terry. The rooms were artistically decorated by the Halloween colors and thanks are due to Mrs. Bryson, 1151 Pandora Avenue, for so kindly giving her home for the occasion.

FUNDS OF BALL FOR WAR MEMORIAL

Armistice Night Social Function to be Notable Event

Preparations are well under way for the grand naval and military ball which is to be held at the Armistice Night, next Monday, and the indications point to a most successful function.

The music will be supplied by Orard's orchestra. The proceeds of this ball are to be devoted to the forming of a nucleus of a fund to be devoted to rearing a permanent memorial to the men of this city who gave their lives in the Great War. The nature of this memorial will be a matter of later consideration, its form and other particulars to be determined by the consensus of opinion of the people and public bodies of this city.

Great preparations are being made for the decoration of the armistice ball. This is in the hands of the naval branch of the service, and all who have had any experience in this connection will know what masters of the art of decoration the naval men are.

All details are being arranged—refreshments, music, decoration and other particulars, by special committees appointed by the naval, permanent and active militia and air forces, and nothing is being left undone to make the occasion one long to be remembered.

W.C.T.U. Head Says Liquor Control Leads to More Bootlegging

Toronto, Nov. 5.—That Government control of the liquor traffic does not decrease drinking was the contention of Mrs. William Pursey, president of the Ontario W.C.T.U., addressing a gathering here yesterday observing "World's Temperance Sunday."

Mrs. Pursey stated that she believed were Ontario to adopt state control of liquor, bootlegging in Toronto would increase 100 per cent.

OPPOSED TO TAX

Garden City Women's Institute Consider Proposed Tax on Stages

At the meeting of the Garden City Women's Institute on Thursday, at Marigold Hall, a letter was read from the British Columbia Stage Drivers' Association regarding the tax of $250 per year which the Provincial Government proposes to place on all cars carrying passengers and freight.

The members of the institute were much opposed to such a move, as the stages and passenger buses have proved very beneficial to the community.

Mrs. Dewar reported that ten babies attended the last clinic, the nurses and doctor being much pleased with the way the clinic was arranged.

It is the intention of the institute to open a class in physical training in the near future, with Miss Gladys Thorpe as teacher. The class will meet once a week. Delicious tea was served at the conclusion of the meeting.

YOUR HOME AND YOU

Doing Over Old Furniture

"What a beautiful old secretary! When did you find it?" exclaimed an evening caller.

"Picked it up in a second-hand shop," proudly responded the host, a lover of antiques. "Paid only $12 for it." Then, as the caller opened an astonished mouth, he added, ruefully: "But it cost me $60 to have it done over."

We all know of the treasures in old mahogany, rosewood, and black walnut that may be found lurking in dim old shops, in ancient bowlers and barns, and that may be bought for a song. But we also know that we are wasting a different time when we learn what it will cost us to have these beautiful pieces put into shape for our living rooms. Very often they have been painted or varnished at some time in their careers, and the surface is blistered, cracked and maddly. If we are willing to give the time and effort to the job, however, we can do over these rare treasures ourselves, not only saving much money but having the joy of seeing the true grain of the wood come out in soft satin sheen.

First of all, apply to the wood a coat (possibly two) of a good varnish remover. Carefully scrape this off with a putty knife or blunt edged tool. I have found a pancake turner

Fishing Season is Extended on Fraser

New Westminster, Nov. 5.—Major James A. Motherwell, chief inspector of the Dominion Fisheries in British Columbia, acting under powers conferred on him by act of parliament, has extended the fishing season on the Fraser River until November 15. The legal end of the season was fixed for Tuesday, but the local fishermen, through their association, had appealed to the authorities for an extension to November 20.

CUSTOMS HEAD IS VISITOR TO CITY

The appointment of a Canadian Customs officer at the port of New York was one of the matters to be discussed with the Minister. Information was also sought on the application of the new sales tax, which will go into effect next year, and on which there is some misunderstanding at present. Matters regarding duty charged on materials for outfitting foreign vessels were also discussed.

In connection with the question of a Canadian Customs officer at New York, Mr. Bureau has already stated at Vancouver, when a large delegation waited upon him on the subject, that he would make no announcement. He had simply come to listen, not to speak on the matter, he said. Any announcement would be made after consultation with his colleagues in the Cabinet.

Hon. Jacques Bureau, the Minister of Customs and Excise, is one of the best known of the French-Canadian lawyers who have followed the course of the Liberal party through the ebbs and flows of its fortunes for the whole of the present century thus far. In fact, now that Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux has departed, in his acceptance of the Speakership of the Commons, from the realm of controversial politics, Mr. Bureau may be regarded as the best known of the fighting lawyers of the Ancient Province who have taken part in day out for the policies of the late leader who converted Quebec from Conservatism to Liberalism.

Mr. Bureau, who is the son of the late J. N. Bureau, a lawyer and Queen's counsel of Three Rivers, Quebec, was born July 9, 1860. He was educated at Nicolet College and Laval University, where he received his LL.B. In 1881, Mr. Bureau went to Manitoba, and was called to the Manitoba bar, practising his profession at Winnipeg until 1890, when he moved to Duluth. He stayed there several years, practicing law, and then returned to Three Rivers to commence practice early in the present century.

In 1900 Mr. Bureau wrested the Three Rivers seat, which had been held by a Conservative, from the famous figures as Sir Hector Langevin and his immediate predecessor, Sir Adolphe Caron. From that time he has fought five general elections, losing, in the end, in 1913, by a majority of nine, and been returned by acclamation three times.

Mr. Bureau took an active part in the Quebec provincial elections, as well as those in the Federal field, and was one of the sharpest controversialists in the naval programme debates of 1910 and 1912. In February, 1907, he followed Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux in the Solicitor-Generalship, a position which has been held in recent years by Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper, Sir Charles Fitzpatrick and Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen. It was only during the incumbency by Mr. Meighen of that office that it commenced to carry Cabinet rank.

From 1907 to 1911 Mr. Bureau was an active supporter of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and went out of office with his leader.

Mr. Bureau was joined in his practice at Three Rivers a partner in which he had been advanced to the rank of King's counsel in 1908 and bannister of the Three Rivers bar in the same year. In 1913, by Wilfrid Gariepy, Mr. Gariepy is the brilliant young lawyer who was Minister of Municipal Affairs in Alberta and gave such an admirable address in Victoria to the Union of Canadian Municipalities just before he resigned office.

Mr. Bureau was a frequent contributor to the debates on his position and when he came back to the House again with a wonderful majority in 1921 it was expected he would take an important position in the King administration. As Minister of Customs he has been able to give a close attention to the application of the tariff to Canadian trade, and the special circumstances of British Columbia products have several times been reported to him for rulings during the last two years.

OCEAN AND COASTWISE SHIPPING

SIBERIAN PRINCE COMPLETES REPAIRS

Will Move to Ogden Point Docks To-morrow to Load Lightened Cargo

Work on the Furness. With steamship Siberian Prince was completed to-day at Yarrow's, Ltd. The steamship will move to the Ogden Point docks about 9 o'clock tomorrow morning to pick up the remainder of the cargo that was taken there when the vessel was being lightened at Bentinck Island.

Grain, lumber and spelter was taken from the vessel while she was ashore. The larger portion of this has been delivered by other ships of the Furness Withy Line, but there still remain several hundred tons of cargo to be delivered. The cargo remaining was to have been picked up by the Ss. London Shipper, but owing to the longshoremen's strike, the vessel did not call here. The Siberian Prince will load this cargo before proceeding to Seattle, where she will load for Belfast, Ireland.

Other marine work reported is that the Consolidated Whaling Company's steam whaler Orion, which was damaged when a whale rammed her. Several plates will have to be renewed. Considerable repair work to the engines will also be given, and it is anticipated that the vessel will be on the ways for nearly a week. The Victoria Machinery Depot will handle the job. The V.M.D. will dock the Ss. Canadian Prospector for cleaning and general overhaul before she loads lumber here for the United Kingdom. She will be dry-docked, it is expected, about November 10.

CORRECT SIGNPOSTS NEED OF MOTORISTS

Washington, Nov. 5.—An official "milestone" for every city and town in the United States is suggested by the American Automobile Association, to avoid the confusion arising from the present habit of taking measurements from any one of several points in a city, which themselves may be a mile or even several miles apart.

Every motorist will recall at some time in his travels, having seen a sign reading "eight miles to Jonesville," and then, a couple of miles further on, passing another sign saying again that Jonesville is still eight miles away. Both signs may be correct, depending on the point in Jonesville from which the mileage was measured.

"From a commercial standpoint an official milestone would be of service in giving readers of advertisements of real estate, for example, definite information. A farm may be advertised as being six miles distant from Jonesville. With the adoption of an official milestone by Jonesville, the reader would know that the distance is six miles from a fixed point in Jonesville, which would be in the heart of the city.

"The cost of putting up the official milestone can be negligible. A simple marker could serve the purpose. Automobile clubs in many instances will be willing to erect the marker or milestone for the city or town."

OREGON COLLEGE WON AT LIVESTOCK SHOW AT PORTLAND

Portland, Ore., Nov. 5.—At the Pacific International Livestock Exposition on Saturday the Collegiate Judging Contest, entered by six schools, was won by Oregon Agricultural College with the score of 4,452. Second place was captured by the University of California and third by the University of Idaho. British Columbia, Montana State and Washington State finished in the order named.

The individual high score trophy went to Bertha Underhill, a member of the University of California team and the only girl among all contestants. Her score was 927, as against 923 for H. L. Steves, of the University of British Columbia, and 930 for E. N. Storms, of the University of Idaho.

BIG REPAIR CONTRACT COMPLETED

The above cut shows the steamship Siberian Prince as she appeared on the rocks at Bentinck Island, near Race Rocks. The contract for the repair of the vessel, secured by Yarrow's, Ltd., has been completed, and the ship will immediately load for Belfast.

Alberta Grain is Moving Fast

Calgary, Alta., Nov. 5.—Excellent work was again done by the Canadian Pacific during the past week in the moving of Alberta grain. Up to Saturday evening 2,495 cars will have been loaded representing approximately 2,500,000 bushels of grain, the bulk of which was wheat. In view of the long haul from the head of the lakes with empty, local grain men stated on Saturday that the supply of cars has been eminently satisfactory. If this were continued at anything like the rate of the past month until bulk of grain was moved, an outstanding record in grain shipments for the province would be established.

CONFEREES BEGIN FINAL WEEK'S WORK

minion participation in such policy probably will be brought up. Unless there are unseen developments, it is expected the proceedings will be confined mainly to a general discussion of the problem.

London, Nov. 5. (Special cable to the Canadian Press by George Hamilton, staff correspondent).—Back from the naval review off Spithead, where the heavy seas had been troublesome with many of the party, the overseas delegates are preparing for the final week of the Imperial Conference.

To-day, following the funeral of the late Rt. Hon. Andrew Bonar Law, the Dominion Premiers will meet in private conference to decide on the agenda for the week, to eliminate matters which can be left over and to include the most urgent subjects.

Tariff preference still looms up as the big issue before the Economic Conference as it has become in the domestic field of British policies. While declining to express any opinion on the Baldwin policy as enunciated at Manchester, the Canadian delegates are giving it close study. Evidently, however, there is considerable doubt felt if the policy, in specially ruling out a preferential tariff on wheat, would be of any great value to Canada. The Baldwin programme, it is observed, would have protection of home industries as its basic idea, which means that Canadian manufactured products, even while enjoying a preferential rate, would have new customs duties to meet in the British market. The Baldwin programme leaves wheat and meat out of the scope of the proposed protective tariff, yet makes no special reference to food products. There is a general expectation, however, that a flour would come under the protective schedule.

During the war the capacity of the British milling industry expanded, but it is now producing only about fifty per cent. of what it could produce. If a protective tariff were imposed on imported flour the effect on Canadian millers, who have built up a considerable trade with the United Kingdom, might, it is thought, be serious. Under the recent British offer of an increased preference, a 100 per cent. preference, but a 100 per cent. preference in flour if a duty were imposed is regarded as outside the bounds of possibility in view of the conduct of British milling. Thus the Canadian millers would probably have a protective duty to meet.

Another possibility raised in connection with the Baldwin scheme is that of a general increase of the British preference on certain articles was made to the Economic Conference there were hints, as previously stated, that a quid pro quo would be welcomed. The official record of the Economic Conference bears no mention of it, but it is understood that it is a general increase of the British preference in Canada to fifty per cent. that was in mind. Here, it is thought, would be considerable difficulty. On home articles in the Canadian tariff, a preference is claimed already to reach fifty per cent., but it is greatly doubted if a general increase to this extent could be accomplished at one stroke without marked dislocation of industry, even if it were thought desirable. The Canadian Ministers here, however, feel it would be highly improper on their part to make any comment on the Baldwin policy which might be regarded as intervening in a domestic issue of British politics.

MANY JAPANESE SAIL FOR ORIENT

Are Visiting Stricken Ports in Search for Relatives

When the Osaka Shosen Kaisha liner Arizona Maru left for the Orient Saturday night she took out with her the biggest passenger list that an O.S.K. ship has taken to the Orient for a long time.

Bound for Japan to seek relatives reported missing in the earthquake disaster and to visit the devastated regions, sixty Victoria and Vancouver Japanese residents and fifty-nine Seattle and Tacoma residents left the Arizona Maru. They will spend several months in the Orient. The Arizona also had a large cabin list of passengers. The O.S.K. boat took out altogether on her outward trip 174 passengers.

Included in the ship's cargo were "knock-down" houses for the stricken regions, automobile trucks, 2,000 tons of wheat and 2,500 tons of flour. Some thirty trucks will go forward on the next O.S.K. boat. Victoria cargo comprised a large shipment of salted whales' fins and a large consignment of stoves.

TREBLA IS HERE

Reconditioned by Captain Berquist for Freight Business

The steamer Trebla, Captain Berquist, docked at the G.T.P. dock early this morning from Vancouver. She is here for survey after completing a long season in northern waters, where she has been plying in the towing business. The Trebla, which was better known here as the old Santa Cruz, has been reconditioned by Captain Berquist, the main alteration in her being her conversion from a coal burner to an oil burner. This enables her to make longer trips than would otherwise be taken and also provides more room for cargo.

She will be put in the freight business on the Sound now, Captain Berquist intimated this morning. The Trebla will be here several days undergoing survey.

The time used is Pacific standard, for the 15th meridian. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high and low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, above the average level of lower low water.

Equipment.—To find the depth of water on the sill of the drydock at any tide, add 18.5 feet to the height of high water as above given.

I.L.A. ACCEDES TO CONDITIONS LAID DOWN BY MINISTER

Ready to Return to Work

Pending Outcome of Conciliation Board

Vancouver, Nov. 5.—"Return to work and the department will act." This is the substance of the conditions which Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor, laid down as the basis upon which the Federal Government will establish a Board of Conciliation looking to settlement of the waterfront strike.

We are willing to accede to your condition and return," the I.L.A. replied in effect, "providing the situation can be restored as before the strike."

In other words, the union men will go back at the same rate of wages and under similar conditions as obtained before the trouble began and will continue at work, pending the outcome of the proposed Conciliation Board. The Minister's ruling adds to the complication of the situation, because the Shipping Federation has stated it will not deal with the I.L.A. and has promised the non-union workers, now employed, that they will be kept on. However, the matter will be discussed at the executive to-day.

RACES BROTHER AROUND WORLD

Nell Wanderwell is Couple of Countries Ahead; Race Started in Atlanta

Crossbones from a human skeleton picked up in the desert in Northern Mexico form its top brace; a coconut from the South Sea Islands hangs beneath a flag from the Philippines. At its rear, its hood, the signature of Warren G. Harding, John J. Pershing, of the King of Belgium, of Pancho Villa. A ready-for-business rifle hangs at its side. A six-cylinder shooting iron, its steering wheel, and it is entered in a race around the earth.

This is a fairly accurate description of the car now being piloted around the world by Nell Wanderwell, entered in a race with a second car, piloted by Miss Wanderwell's brother, the well-known automobile racer, Capt. Walter Wanderwell.

The car is a Jordan Blue Boy, with a special body especially adapted to its peculiar programme. On the occasion of Edward S. Jordan's recent visit to Los Angeles the automobile magnate added his signature to the hundreds already on the car.

"There are two units in the big round-the-world race of the Wanderwells. The race started in 1919 at Atlanta, Ga. It is to continue until September 22, 1924, and its winner will be the car which succeeds in making the greatest mileage and visits the largest number of countries. At the present time, until No. 1 of the race, which is the Jordan Blue Boy, now in Los Angeles, is two countries and 6,000 miles ahead of the other car, a different make of car, which is now in Belgium. The Blue Boy in Los Angeles has traveled upward of 75,000 miles.

One of the requirements of the strange adventure of the Wanderwells, is that each party must make the entire way round the world, paying every penny of expense by the sale of post cards and the exhibition of the interesting motion-pictures which picture the hazardous trials of the Wanderwells.

From Los Angeles, the itinerary of the car includes a trip to India and to South Africa. It has already been in Northern Africa, and the schedule has been so arranged that September of next year will see both cars as near back to their original starting-place in Atlanta as possible.

"WITHIN THE LAW" AT ROYAL ALL WEEK

Norma Talmadge Stars in Gripping Drama

Norma Talmadge has given the screen one of the most gripping dramas of a decade in her picturization of "Within the Law," the first National picture which opened a week's engagement at the Royal to-day.

"Within the Law" enjoys a reputation of being the most successful stage drama ever produced. If present indications are any criterion, it will be an even greater success on the silver sheet, for, as a moving picture, it is more moving entertainment.

As Mary Turner, a department store employee sent to prison for a theft that another committed (the role in which Jane Cowl distinguished herself before the footlights), Norma Talmadge rises to perhaps the greatest emotional heights of her career.

Girl Joins Blackmailers
In prison Mary Turner forms a friendship with Aggie Lynch, serving a term for blackmailing. Following her release, Mary makes unsuccessful efforts to obtain work. Desperate, she tries suicide, but is saved by Joe Garson, a forger of Aggie's hand. Mary finally agrees to join the gang if they will keep "within the law."

And so Mary and Aggie make a successful specialty of breach of promise suits. In Florida, Dick Gilder, son of Edward Gilder, the department store owner who had sent Mary to prison as an example, rescues Aggie from a faked drowning. He immediately becomes infatuated with Mary, who, knowing that he is the son of her arch enemy, decides to use him as a tool of vengeance, despite the fact that she loves him.

The two girls return to New York, where Mary and Dick are married, much to the chagrin of Garson, who also loves Mary. She sends Dick to bring his father to her. Then the elder Gilder learns who she is. She denies her love for Dick, but he will not believe that she married him solely for vengeance. For days she refuses to see him.

Wife Found With Thieves
Mary learns Garson is planning a robbery of the Gilder home with one Griggs and tries to prevent it. It is, however, the law, not love, that saves her.

not know, however, that the proposed theft is a frame-up planned by Inspector Burke to trap Garson and that Griggs is a stool pigeon. She hurries to the Gilder house, in accordance with a ruse of Burke's, to tip off Joe that he is in danger. Dick, who is horrified to see his wife among thieves. When Griggs attempts to blow a police whistle Garson shoots the stool pigeon with a revolver equipped with a silencer. All escape but Mary, who stays with her husband. She informs Inspector Burke that Dick shot the stool pigeon in defense of his home. Burke is still suspicious of Garson. Next day he sends for the three and grills them. When he accuses Mary of murder Garson confesses to save the woman he loves.

As a special added attraction the great International Horse Race between Papyrus and Zev will also be shown.

IS STORY OF ILL FATED MARRIAGE

Columbia Has Picture Devoted to Unhappy Matrimonial Relations

Major Charles G. Norris, author, is opposed to maida, apartment houses, limousines and idle wives.

"Not that a maid," explains the creator of the famous novel "Brass," the feature attraction at the Columbia Theatre to-day, a study of marriage and divorce, "or an apartment house, or a limousine is bad, but that these things cause unhappy marriages."

The wife who lives in a little apartment, who is waited on by inches, who never cares for her own home or her children, who rides in a limousine and doesn't even have to exert herself to catch a street car—she is the sort of wife who gets into mischief and makes a failure of marriage.

His "Brass" has been adapted for the screen by Warner Brothers, with Monte Blue in the starring role. The story deals with the unhappy married life of Philip and Marjorie Baldwin, a young western couple. Marjorie is a wilful little wife, who prefers cabarets and boon companions to listless life at home. Each goes their different way after the divorce, through a series of love affairs that have great dramatic situations.

The supporting cast includes Marie Prevost, Harry Myers, Vera Lewis, Irene Rich, Frank Keenan, Miss DuPont, Margaret Seddon, Helen Ferguson, Edward Johnson, Harvey Clark, Cyril Chadwick, Pat

O'Malley, Gertrude Bennett and Alice Grey Terrey.
—Sidney Franklin directed the production. The scenario was done by Julien Josephson.

NOTED FRENCH SCHOLAR WILL SPEAK HERE

November 8 is the date set for the opening of the lecture season of the Alliance Française. M. Alexandre Moret, he official lecturer for the organization, will speak on "The Life and Death of the Egyptians." The address is to be given in the Victoria College, commencing at 8.30 p.m., on Thursday. M. Moret is a noted educationist and Egyptologist, and an author of prominence. M. Moret will spend three months lecturing in Canada and the United States.

Dupre's Unmatched Record of Recitals

No virtuoso of modern times has had such a series of Metropolitan appearances in one season as Marcel Dupre, the great French organist, of Notre Dame Cathedral, upon the occasion of his American debut last season.

After his sensational success at his New York debut last year, Dupre played a series of eight remarkable recitals in that city alone besides three in Philadelphia, in the space of less than five weeks, to audiences approximating 50,000 persons.

Thousands were unable to obtain admission to the New York recitals, while in Philadelphia his audiences numbered over eight thousand at each recital. This remarkable record is not only a tribute to the great genius of Dupre and his powers as a virtuoso and improvisateur, but indicates also a general awakening of interest in the organ throughout the country. His appearance in this city is interesting to all lovers of good music.

He has promised to give an example of his marvelous improvisation as a number of his programme here, and themes will be submitted by some prominent musicians of the city. Marcel Dupre will give one of his recitals at the organ of St. Andrew's Cathedral (Blanchard Street) on the evening at 9 o'clock of Sunday, November 18.

Tickets can be obtained at Fletcher Bros., where the sale opens November 9.

ENGLISH DERBY IS THEME AT CAPITOL

"Son of Kissing Cup" is Famous Racing Picture

"Son of Kissing Cup," one of the best of racing melodramas that has come from the Old Country, will be the attraction at the Capitol Monday Tuesday, Friday and Saturday. Violet Hopson and Stewart Rome, two prominent English screen stars will play the leading roles. Among the many brilliant scenes in the picture is one of the famous English 1923 Derby, the great Epsom Downs sporting event showing Papyrus, the wonder horse, one of the most famous racing horses of the world, winning that event. The story centres around Sir Kenneth Sterling, the wealthy owner of a celebrated racing stable, and his famous racing horse, "Son of Kissing Cup." Every good horse has a history, and the history of "Son of Kissing Cup" and its owner has been filmed into a thrilling melodrama that forms one of the most entertaining pictures of the year. Miss Viola Westerlain, the popular Capitol violinist, will be heard in an entirely new programme.

WILL CONTINUE FOR ANOTHER WEEK

"Why Worry" Will Occupy Dominion, Starring Harold Lloyd

"Why Worry" is to continue at the Dominion this week. Harold Lloyd as a feature comedian is always attractive, and in "A Sailor Made Man," "Grandma's Boy" and "Safety Last," he has been adding to the laurels which he gained in his early appearances as a screen star.

Now comes "Why Worry," and creates its own place among the Harold Lloyd Pathécomedies. It is not like any of its predecessors, except in so far as it is one hundred per cent funny, having South America as a background and a revolution as the motif.

For chief partners-in-fun in "Why Worry," Harold Lloyd has a giant nearly nine feet tall and a leading lady only five feet tall. These are, respectively, John Aasen and Jobyna Raiston. The giant Aasen is making his screen debut, and pretty little Jobyna is making her first appearance as Harold's leading lady, supplanting Mildred Davis, who took one of those "for-better-or-worse" life jobs with Harold.

"Why Worry" is the feature attraction at the Dominion Theatre until the end of the week. It was produced at the Hal Roach studio with the usual Lloyd staff of experts in direction and scenario writing.

Great Artists Must Lead Normal Life, Clara Butt's Idea

To be a great artist one must be of healthy vigor and lead a sane and normal life for the most wonderful voice in the world will soon follow the decay of a devitalized body.

That is the precept of Dame Clara Butt, the distinguished English contralto, who is announced for an extensive tour through Canada this Fall, which will take her from Halifax to Victoria and return.

Precepts are proved in practice. That is not mere alliteration. It is common sense. But it is not always possible to point to the person who practices what he preaches. Not so with Dame Clara. She does not agree with that spiritual mentor who admonished his parishioners to "do as I say and not as I do."

England's greatest contralto was heard in concert in many of the cities which she is now to visit again. In fact, it was the brilliant success of the former tour and the high popular favor in which it served to establish this celebrated artist that prompted an insistent demand for her return.

The memory of that rich and colorful voice and the sight of that statuesque and perfect specimen of physical womanhood remain undimmed and the wonder they inspired finds its simple explanation in a single word, Normalcy, a word that was coined by the late Warren G. Harding.

There are no social activities, no field of interest and no line of thought consistent with the preservation of a healthy body and a healthy mind that does not command the attention of Dame Clara. Her interests are common with those of any other person of culture and broad catholicity of tastes. There is nothing intricate in her life and nothing complex in her pursuits. She is absolutely normal in everything that the word implies.

But Dame Clara is first an artist and in her art she finds that the same physical fitness, the same mental discipline and the same self-imposed restrictions in social interchange make for the same pre-eminence as in any other exacting profession.

Dame Clara Butt and her company will appear at the Capitol Theatre, Wednesday and Thursday this week, giving two entirely different programmes. Each concert will commence at 8.15 o'clock.

INSTITUTE MEETING

The November meeting of the South Saanich Women's Institute will be held on the regular monthly meeting night, November 16, instead of on November 9, as previously announced. A good attendance is requested, and the roll call will be "Christmas recipes."

SECOND RECITAL PROVES SUCCESS

Columbia School of Music Students Give Attractive Programme

Pupils recitals have now commenced, and from present indications many are to be given during the present winter season. Among these are the monthly recitals arranged by the Columbia School of Music, one of which took place on Friday evening in the hall of that institution. There was a large and interested gathering of parents and friends present.

The programme rendered, consisting of over twenty numbers, represented the senior students from the vocal, piano and violin departments, and throughout there were many evidences of thorough supervision, and of a high standard order of tuition on the part of the principal, Mrs. Burdon-Murphy, and her staff. Particularly was this the case in the numbers by Ronald Heard, who obtained honors in the advanced grade at the Summer R.A.M. examinations; Fred Pitt, Isabel Mildenhall and Dorothy Osborne, of the piano department; Marjorie Watson, whose diction for so young a singer was delightfully noticeable in Scott's "The Jasmine Door"; and B. Clarkson in (a) "I Love the Moon" (Rubens) and (b) "Freights" (Maurice Beasley), of the vocal department, both being heard to good advantage in the duet "When the Winds Blow From the Sea" (Smart). Mr. Clarkson has a tenor voice of much promise, and he sings understandingly.

Jack Pullen and Miss E. Graham, of the violin department, are making rapid headway, the former in his two solos, "Priere" (Hubay) and "Berceuse" (Karganoff), once more showing his natural talents for his instrument. One of the outstanding individual efforts of the evening was the excellent playing of Fred Pitt, in the first movement of one of Beethoven's famous sonatas, the "Pathétique," in which the player gave evidences of abundant temperamental forces, coupled with a clean technical equipment. Ronald Heard can be reckoned at no distant period of time as one of the city's foremost pianists, both his solos (a) "Hark, Hark, the Lark" (Schubert-Liszt) (b) "Valse" op. 70 (Chopin) being admirably executed, and in the duet with the principal, "Kondo Brilante," was again extremely successful. Isabel Mildenhall and Dorothy Osborne, both of whom possess the advanced grade R.A.M. certificates, again emphasized the excellent opinion formed of the thoroughness of instruction given at this school as judged by the brilliant results gained at this year's examinations, and both young ladies acquitted themselves splendidly in an "Impromptu" (Reinhold) and "Berceuse" op. 57 (Chopin), respectively. Miss G. Hawkins, of the Elliott and Harry Latham, also deserve special mention. Others taking part were Jennie Andrews, Rito Cottell and Joyce Pillar, all of whom have already attained to good results.

New Books at the Library

Egypt being very much to the fore at present, it would seem that a list of books on that country, its art, ancient civilization, religion and people would not be amiss. There are both standard works of a scientific order, and books in a lighter style in the library, so that people with varied tastes can make their particular choice.

Through the popular Universal Histories, such as Wells' "Outline of History" and Van Loon's "Story of Mankind," one gets the idea of the continent of history, and the relation of the Egyptian civilization to others, and especially to our own.

Among deeper works, we turn to those of Gaston Camille Maspero, the great Egyptologist, who was one of the disciples of Auguste Mariette, the founder of the Egyptian National Museum. Maspero succeeded Mariette as director of excavations and antiquities of Egypt, so had every possible chance of storing up knowledge of Egypt and its wonders at first hand; he also had the faculty of putting this knowledge into book form. Several of his works have been translated into English. Among those to be found at the Victoria Library are "Egypt, Ancient Sites and Modern Scenes" and "Art in Egypt." An outstanding book of reference is "Egypt Descriptive, Historical and Picturesque," by George Ebers. Many an hour could be profitably spent poring over this most interesting work.

Many important discoveries were made by W. M. Flinders Petrie, the English Egyptologist, from the ruins of Kahun and Gizeh, and his books, with details of many and varied subjects, are amazingly entertaining. He writes the following: "Syria and Egypt From the Tell-Armana Letters." "History of Egypt From the Earliest Kings to the XVI Dynasty." "Religion of Ancient Egypt." "Personal Religion in Egypt." "Egyptian Tales." Religion and Conscience in Ancient Egypt." and "Egyptian Decorative Art."

John Pentland Mahaffy, a man of deep learning, who made the ancient civilizations his special study, has given us "Under the Ptolemaic Dynasty."

E. A. Wallis Budge, keeper of the Egyptian antiquities in the British Museum, naturally had great facilities to learn of things Egyptian, and wrote very valuable and learned works. His books include "Egyptian Sudan, Its History and Monuments."

Sir John Gardner Wilkinson began his career by becoming proficient in Arabic and Coptic. He became a great antiquarian and made exhaustive explorations on either side of the Nile as far as Thebes. He transmitted 200 antiquarian subjects to the British Museum, and wrote "Popular Account of Ancient Egyptians."

Among the books of James Henry Breasted, an American Egyptologist, we have "History of Egypt From the Earliest Times to the Persian Conquest."

No one interested in Egyptology can overlook Heinrich Karl Brugsch and his wonderful work and books. His first great achievement was in the elucidation of Demotic, which study had been neglected since the death of Francois Champollion, who must be regarded as the successful decipherer of hieroglyphic, and who left a grammar and extensive vocabulary of the ancient Egyptian language when he died in 1882.

Brugsch is considered one of the greatest authorities on Egypt, and all great scientists look to him and consult his works. An intimate friend of the great Mariette, it seems deplorable that French influence prevented his succeeding Mariette as director of the Bulak Museum, but 1872 was still very near to 1882, and one can perhaps make allowances for the French and their outraged feelings at that period. "Egypt Under the Pharaohs" is an important work of his.

Karl Richard Lepsius, another German Egyptologist, has left us "Letters From Egypt, Ethiopia and the Peninsula of Sinai," but chiefly is he known as the publisher of the "Book of the Dead." The nucleus of this book, combined with other chapters of more recent origin, is found in the Papyrus of the XVIII. and XX. Dynasties, and forms the Theban recension, edited by Edouard Naville, in an important work. This author is also responsible for "The Old Egyptian Faith."

Turning to books in a lighter vein, we can mention "Egypt and Its Memories," by Robert A. Smythe Hichens. From the pen of Arthur E. P. B. Weigall, who worked with Petrie at Abydos, and has had great experience in exploring and excavating, in all parts of Egypt, we have "Life and Times of Akhnaton, Pharaoh of Egypt," "Glory of the Pharaohs," and "Guide of the Antiquities of Upper Egypt."

Charles Leonard Woolley gives us in "Dead Towns and Living Men," a brightly written word picture of persons and places. It is instructive as well as entertaining, and readers to whom archaeology is a vague profession can learn from this narrative how fascinating it may be. "The Civilization of the Ancient Egyptians," by A. Bothwell Gosse, is attractive on account of its illustrations; it is published in "The Through the Eye" series by Thomas Nelson & Company, and in small space gives excellent reproductions of the antiquities relating to Egyptian civilization.

Among deeper works, we turn to those of Gaston Camille Maspero, the great Egyptologist, who was one of the disciples of Auguste Mariette, the founder of the Egyptian National Museum. Maspero succeeded Mariette as director of excavations and antiquities of Egypt, so had every possible chance of storing up knowledge of Egypt and its wonders at first hand; he also had the faculty of putting this knowledge into book form. Several of his works have been translated into English. Among those to be found at the Victoria Library are "Egypt, Ancient Sites and Modern Scenes" and "Art in Egypt." An outstanding book of reference is "Egypt Descriptive, Historical and Picturesque," by George Ebers. Many an hour could be profitably spent poring over this most interesting work.

Taxi Men Like Dodge Brothers Popular Sedan

The new Dodge Brothers motor cars are becoming very popular in the taxi business. Last week tours were made to Chemainus, Jordan River, Campbell River and Union Bay by the C. and C. taxi service with their new Dodge sedans. It is the intention of the company to add to their fleet of taxi cars, and another sedan was acquired last week, to supplement the fleet.

G. R. HUNTINGTON DIED IN MINNEAPOLIS

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 5.—George R. Huntington, aged fifty-five, president of the Minneapolis, St. Paul and Ste. Marie Railways, died at his home Saturday following a sudden heart attack.

Mr. Huntington was born in New Lisbon, Wis. His father ran the first locomotive, a wood burner, into Lacrosse, Wis. Two brothers and his uncle, Fred D. Underwood, president of the Erie road, are connected with the transportation business.

Mr. Huntington in the early eighties began his career on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road as a messenger boy. He came to the Soo line as train dispatcher in 1888. He was made general manager in May, 1920, and president in May, 1922, succeeding Edmund Pennington.

He is survived by a widow and three children.

CARD PARTY AT HEALTH CENTRE

A five hundred card party has been arranged to take place at the Saanich War Memorial Health Centre, under the auspices of South Saanich

Women's Institute, on Wednesday evening.

The object is two-fold, the principal one being to give the residents of the Saanich District an opportunity to inspect the centre, and become better acquainted with the energetic superintendent, Mrs. Lucas, and the district nurses, and secondarily to benefit this institution by the proceeds of the entertainment.

An invitation is extended to the general public to be present, and especially the residents of Royal Oak, also those who patronize the card parties which are held by the institute members at Keating.

Car owners are urged to fill up their cars with friends, and a good turn-out is looked for, to make this first card party at the centre a complete success. Tables may be reserved by telephoning the Health Centre, or Mrs. Gold, 2R, Keating.

District Nurse—Come, come! Can't you and your husband live happily together without fighting?

Wife—No, nurse, we can't—no happily!

Lots of men like bad muckilage stick to nothing.

Norma Talmadge

in

"Within the Law"

Adapted by Frances Marion From the Stage Play by Bayard Veiller

Our patrons have no doubt noted the wide variety of stories and plays in which Miss Talmadge has appeared, commencing with "Smilin' Through," which was the first of her new series for distribution through Associated First National.

Following the national ballot to find the greatest feminine screen star, conducted by theatres all over America two years ago, to which position Miss Talmadge was elected by an overwhelming majority of her hosts of admirers, it was decided by her manager, Mr. Joseph M. Shenck, to provide her with vehicles and roles which would give her recognized genius the widest scope and fullest play.

In "Smilin' Through" her art brought happy tears; in "The Eternal Flame" she sounded the heights and depths of a woman's heart; in "The Voice From the Minaret" she searched the soul of a wife whose heart renounced the bonds imposed by her wedding ring. In each picture in turn she inspired with dramatic realism a different character, time and country. The charm and magnificence of these pictures, the ripening and fruition of a great actress's art, have been applauded throughout the world.

In choosing "Within the Law," it was decided to give to the screen a de luxe interpretation of a great American play—the first American story of her late series. As Mary Turner, the innocent and beautiful shop girl driven to a life of crime within the law—Miss Talmadge has very great and entirely different acting opportunities. The role is unique and distinctive because it gives her her first chance to portray the fire and passion and revenge of a woman scorned and persecuted. Never was she more superb than in the scene in which she tells her persecutor:

"School For Scandal"
Will be Run For Entire Week Here

Compton Players Appearing in Farewell Performance at The Playhouse.

Owing to the Playhouse changing hands and becoming a motion picture house, this will be the farewell week of the popular Compton Comedy Company. "The School for Scandal" is to run the entire week commencing to-night, and, owing to the large number of people who were prevented from coming last week to see this immortal comedy of Sheridan's and to those who will wish to witness it a second time, a very busy week is anticipated at the Playhouse for Mr. Compton's farewell. The extraordinary charm of this classic play remains as fresh to-day as when it was first produced, nearly 200 years ago. Its powers to hold and amuse an audience never fail to assert themselves, and the faithful mirror of the age and brilliant literary qualities are invaluable from an educational point of view.

The Compton Comedy Company is at its very best in this great comedy.

It is its most ambitious effort and the most successful one. Mr. Compton has given the play the most beautiful and costly costumes, which alone make a delightful picture. The settings are exceedingly handsome, and the acting is everything that could be desired.
"The School for Scandal" is in every way a suitable play for Mr.
Compton and his company, who have given us so much that is of the best, to present as their farewell to Victoria.
The man who is willing to take things as they come frequently finds that someone else has headed them off.

IN line with new legislation being passed in the various States of the American Union aimed to diminish the alarming number of accidents through reckless driving of automobiles, particularly on level railroad crossings, the Board of Railway Commissioners for Canada has requested the Canadian Pacific Railway to submit information bearing upon similar dangerous practices by motorists on various portions of its system so that use may be made of the information with a view to endeavoring, through education, to minimize the occurrence of such dangerous practices.

In a Bulletin issued by the Board of Railway Commissioners on June 15th, 1923, 54 cases of danger at protected crossings are cited for the period October, 1922, to May, 1923, and of these fifty are declared to have been due to the carelessness of motor drivers. "Motor accidents," says the bulletin, "are becoming more frequent. Every sane motorist deplors this. If accidents are to be lessened, the same motorist must educate the culpably negligent motorists."

All highway crossings are by law protected by signs, and they are only dangerous when the driver of the automobile makes them so. They are not dangerous if motorists will take a small part of the care they exercise in turning on a city street. It is the motorist's carelessness that makes them dangerous. The train has right of way. Everyone knows what may happen if the plainly seen warnings are disregarded at a point where the motor car can stop while the train cannot.

The surprising part of it also is that safeguards and precautions erected by the railroads are so often entirely ignored. Time after time newspaper reports show that crossing alarm bells, barrier gates and even watchmen waving "stop" signals mean nothing to the man in the motor car who is determined to beat the train to it.

Coroners' juries are usually more discriminating and put the blame where it belongs, but the general public, seeing the usual newspaper headline, "Train Crashes into Motor Car," starts out with the impression that the train must necessarily be to blame, when, as a matter of fact, a fairer statement of the case would be "Another Auto Gets in Path of Fast Train." Quite as often, too, the heading should read, "Flying Auto Dashes into Moving Train." Frequently the auto strikes the train well behind the engine, a convincing indication that the motorist too frequently treats the railroad crossing with the same casual notice that he gives the intersection of a quiet country road.

Out of 32 level crossing accidents that happened in Ontario during 1922, 22 were the result of the motorist not heeding the stop signal, and seven were the result of running into the lowered gates or actually passing under them after they were lowered, or while they were being lowered.
One man had no headlights and apparently did not see the gates were down while the remainder in other ways tried to cross in front of the engine in order to save time.

In an editorial on this question, the Toronto Star says that: "In a country like this, with its magnificent distances, and railway systems with twenty thousand miles of track, the time may never come when all level crossings will be eliminated. With motor cars in use everywhere there is no railway crossing so remote but that a motorist may use it. It is his business to see that he does so at a safe moment. It is his business for two reasons: (1) because it is the presence of him and his car at that time and place, and not the coming of the train, which creates the risk of a crash; and (2) because if there should be a crash he and his car will be crushed, and not the train."

THE BIG NEWS

Everybody believes in those who believe in themselves.

Most people believe that real enthusiasm in advertising must be based upon something real and desirable.
And most people are right.

The merchant who half-advertises his store emphasizes his half-belief in it.

But the merchant who knows that he has the thing wanted, and that he can sell it at a lower price than his competitor, touches the town's self-interest, and thus centres attention upon his store. He convinces everybody that his store means something DEFINITE.

The merchant's advertising must carry enthusiasm and conviction—or it cannot DELIVER THEM.

His advertising is his point of contact with his possible customers. It must be charged with truth, with facts, with NEWS.

And it must not be stinted in space—for this is an "interest-killer." The reader is accustomed to finding the big news story of the day treated in a big way. And the same expectation extends to the big news stories of the stores.

Then, to be really effective, productive, the big advertising stories must be carried in the HOME Paper.

HON. E. LAPOINTE SPOKE IN WINNIPEG

Federal Minister Urged Those Desiring Progress to Support Liberal Party

Banquet Held in Honor of Solicitor-General MacMurray

Winnipeg, Nov. 5.—Calling upon the Liberals of Canada to fight to uphold the traditions of the party, to maintain and propagate its principles and asserting that the policy of the Conservatives is one of hatred and distrust and responsible for the "Whisper of Death" which had led to migration from the country, Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Federal Minister of Marine and Fisheries, was the principal speaker at a banquet here on Saturday night in honor of Hon. E. J. MacMurray, Solicitor-General, and in recognition of his victory in North Winnipeg in the recent by-election.

In the course of his address, which discussed what Liberalism had done for Canada, Mr. Lapointe made an indirect appeal to men of progressive thought to line up with the party. "They are mistaken," said he, "those men who are progressively inclined who believe they might have more control and more influence by standing apart and letting the other fellows rule."

Only Criticism
He was particularly severe when criticizing the attitude of the Conservative party as defined by Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, and asked if Canadians would countenance any party standing aside, only criticizing, playing politics and not giving constructive help in solving the problems Canada was faced with at the present time.

Mr. MacMurray also spoke, and T. C. Norris, former Premier of Manitoba, acclaiming Mr. Lapointe as a low tariff Liberal, hoped he would use his influence in the direction of tariff reform along these lines.

EXEMPT IMPROVEMENTS

this reform. The Liberal party pledged itself to enact it in order to secure votes. Let it now implement its promise and deliver the goods. The show-down is at hand. Will the Government keep faith with honest industry or not. Time will soon tell.

ALAN HAMILTON

CHESS AND CHECKERS

To the Editor:—In a late issue of your valued paper there appeared a letter from a prairie visitor who had been in the habit of spending his winters in our city. On returning as usual this year he was greatly disappointed to find that the chess and checker games at the public library had been discontinued. His letter, I believe, was referred to the Chamber of Commerce, where I suppose it will die a natural death.

Our visitor is not the only one disappointed; these games were the center of attraction to a number of our citizens as well as many visitors. Among those who patronized them were to be found men from all walks of life—ministers, professional men, mechanics, laborers—all met on a common ground, and some of the best players were numbered among the latter classes. No introductions were necessary; an unoccupied board, a nod from one to another, and a game was on, and many an otherwise dull afternoon or evening was found far too short by the players. If the same courtesy and friendly feeling which existed in this little club were to prevail in the great outside world, universal peace would reign and wars would be no more.

It seems to me Mr. Editor that we as taxpayers were entitled to a little consideration before such a drastic step was decided on. I believe the chief reason given was a lack of space, but on the shelves of the library you will find rows of books on electricity, engineering and kindred subjects which are so far out of date at the present time that a more fitting place for them would be in a museum where they might occasionally be of interest to the antiquarian.

If someone with more time at his disposal than the writer would start a petition for the reinstatement of these games in their old quarters the number of signatures to it would be a convincing argument in "HOYLE."

adoption by Brussels of what is termed "the Anglo-American policy" is referred to by newspapers which are staunch supporters of the Government as an accomplished fact.

French Opinion

Paris, Nov. 5.—What is termed Great Britain's insistence upon conditions unacceptable to France in connection with the proposed inquiry into Germany's capacity to pay and the tendency of the British press to raise point after point particularly disagreeable to France in this connection have developed a feeling in French official circles as expressed there today that there is a systematic effort to isolate France.

Paris dispatches from Washington attributing to both Secretary Hughes and President Coolidge sentiments in harmony with those expressed in London and reports that the Belgians are inclined to sheer off from the French policy have contributed to this feeling, although it is declared in official circles that Paris and Brussels are still in perfect accord.

Made Stronger

Premier Poincare's firmness in dealing with the proposal of an expert committee on reparations is said to have been fortified by a feeling that there is a disposition to get him into a corner.

The final movements of Mr. Lloyd George in the United States, which were watched with the greatest attention here, are interpreted as an effort to bring the United States into a cordon around France.

POINCARÉ'S SPEECH OF RESENTMENT REPARATIONS PLAN

Brive, France, Nov. 5.—Premier Poincare, speaking at the unveiling of a monument to the war dead of Brive yesterday, again defined his position as regards German reparations. He did not show the slightest variation in his speech from his previous declaration.

The Premier said the expert committee of the Reparations Commission must not be allowed to become the indirect means of raising the question of the amount of Germany's debt, nor must France be despoiled of her guarantee prior to the total payment of reparations.

France, M. Poincare declared, would remain within the framework of the treaty before, during and after the work of the committee of experts.

M. Poincare made no direct reference to the question of a limitation of the powers of the committee of experts, which has been the subject of much argument during the last two or three days. In fact, he did not refer directly to the United States except when he said he had made it a point to leave no room for ambiguity on these matters in the best interests of France and "the Allied and Associated Powers."

Whenever he used the word "capacity," the Premier always placed the word "present" before it.

Denounces Propaganda
In his speech M. Poincare dealt with what he called "Germany's brazen propaganda attempt" to bring about Anglo-Saxon pity by issuing illustrated leaflets showing she had paid in cash and kind to an amount of $6,000,000,000 gold marks. He quoted the Reparations Commission statistics putting the amount paid at less than $200,000,000 gold marks, of which France, he said, had received only $24,000,000 net above the expenses of the army of occupation and advances.

Rhineland
With a seeming touch of scorn, M. Poincare dismissed the British note with reference to the question of an independent Rhineland, by remarking that he was unable to grasp the reasoning which appeared to him contrary to the principles of the rights of peoples.

"We never promised to protect the German constitution against the Germans, nor even the unity of the Reich and the initiatives taken by the German states do not excuse the Allies from observing toward one another the treaty they signed," he declared.

The German state has been ruining itself, said M. Poincare, by allowing its citizens, particularly the great industrialists, to enrich themselves without serious effort to make them pay an equitable contribution toward national resurrection.

Precautions Taken

"Yet," continued M. Poincare, "it is after this self-willed bankruptcy that we have been invited from several quarters to revise the German debt, just as if that debt had not been definitely fixed by application of the treaty and as if it depended on the constitutionality of the French Government to reshape the diplomatic convention accepted by both its chambers. We therefore have had to take our precautions, that none should seek to despoil us of our pledges before total payment, and that in the expert investigation to which the Reparations Commission proceeds with a view to estimating Germany's present capacity, there should be no reconsideration by some indirect way of the settled amount of the debt.

Even in estimating the present capacity, it would be desirable that the experts search with the utmost care the real ends under the rags of misery with which the Reich seeks to cover itself."

Young Liberal Ladies—The annual meeting of the Young Liberal Ladies' Club will be held in the Liberal headquarters on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, when the business will include the election of officers and reception of annual reports. The Winter social activities will also be planned. A short address will be given by H. C. Hall, K.C.

The Joys Of whiter, cleaner teeth Let this test reveal them

Here is a way which has brought to millions prettier teeth and safer. You will never go without its benefits when once you find them out.

Accept the test we offer. Watch the results for a few days. They will be a revelation.

By fighting film

The results come by fighting film on teeth—that vicious film you feel. Under old methods, much of that film resists the tooth brush, clings and stays.

Soon the film discolors, then forms dingy coats, so white teeth lose their beauty.

Most tooth troubles are also due to film. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. And they, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Few people, in old-way brushing, escape the film-caused troubles.

Ways of escape

Dental science has now found two effective film combatants. One acts to disintegrate the film, one to remove it without harmful scouring. Able authorities proved these methods by many careful tests. Then a new-type tooth paste was created to apply them daily. The name is Pepsodent.

Careful people of some 50 nations have adopted this tooth paste, largely by dental advice. Pepsodent meets the new-day requirements, based on modern research. It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva, also its starch digestant.

Those are Nature's agents for neutralizing acids and digesting starch deposits. Pepsodent gives them manifold effect, while old ways reduced their power. Thus it brings new cleanliness, new protection, without using harmful grit.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the vicious film. See how teeth become whiter as the film-coats disappear.

You will be surprised and delighted. Cut out coupon now.

Protect the Enamel

Pepsodent disintegrates the film, then removes it with an agent far softer than enamel. Never use a film combatant which contains harsh grit.

REBA ON THE LINKS.—You remember hearing of Reba Crawford, the Salvation Army lassie who made Broadway sit up and take notice a few months back with her nightly meetings. Here the camera has caught her on the golf links at St. Petersburg, Fla. She will conduct a campaign in the Florida city before returning to New York.

INTO THE MOUTH OF A LION.—These freshmen at the University of Cincinnati failed to adhere to a campus rule and wear white middies every Friday. As a penalty, they had to clean the teeth of the stone lions in front of a campus building.

IMMIGRANT CHILDREN ON A SASKATCHEWAN FARM

"Godfather to Thousands" is the unofficial title of James A. Robb, Minister of Immigration and Colonization in the Canadian Government. His foster children are British war orphans and homeless little ones from city streets brought overseas to take a new start. Since the beginning of this century 78,000 boys and girls from Great Britain have been received, their ages ranging from three to eighteen.

Each immigrant youngster is directly a ward of the Government and under the supervision of Minister Robb's department. They are selected by philanthropic organizations and upon their arrival are placed in the homes of substantial farmers. Already many of the earlier juvenile immigrants have become influential citizens. At the close of the last fiscal year 2,638 boys and 975 girls were sharing the minister's god-fatherhood.

"British children on Canadian farms" is the slogan under which we are working," says Robb. "No better outlet can be found for the overflowing population in the British Isles, and Canada can obtain no better material for citizenship than these children of kindred blood, brought up from their early youth as Canadian citizens."

Although the children when received are on an apprentice status, many are adopted into families and rapidly assimilated in the new community. The Canadian child immigration plan is without parallel in United States practice.

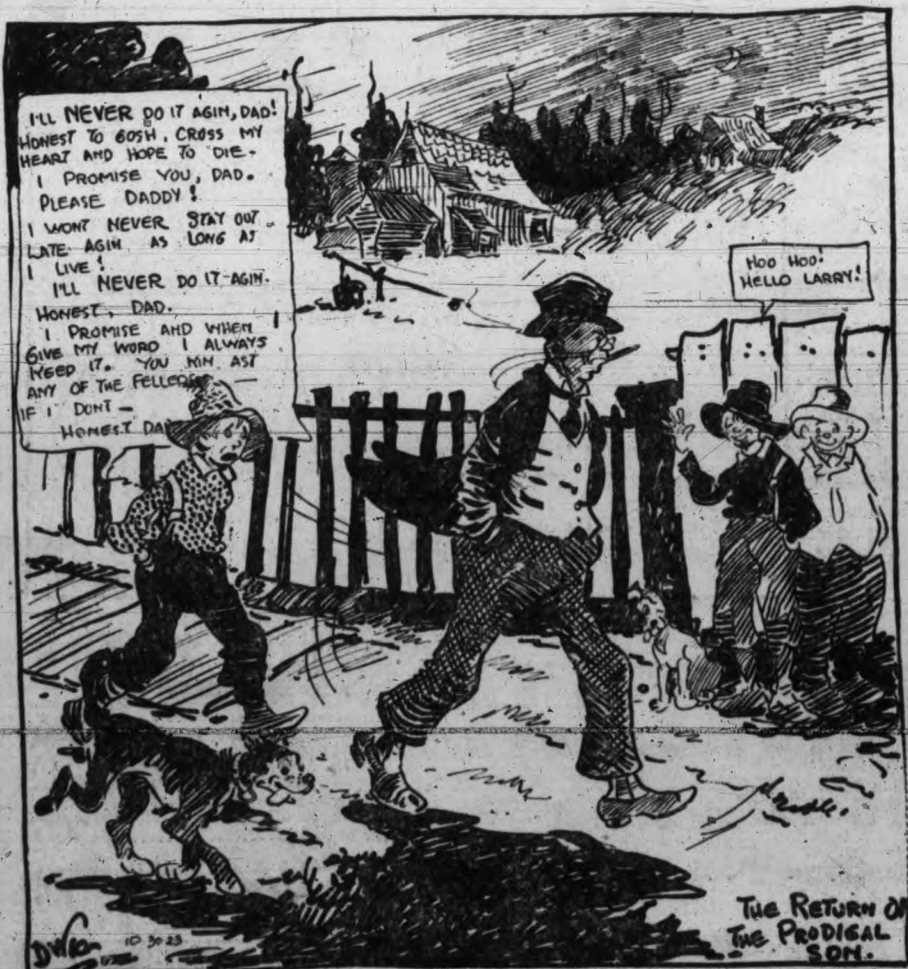

FURY OF THE FLOOD.—With a tumultuous roar, the loosened flood waters in Oklahoma City hurried themselves in frothy frenzy against this once proud railroad bridge, leaving it a twisted wreck—age of shattered debris and tangled ruins.

GUESS AGAIN.—This is not a movie stunt, so the caption on the picture tells us. It shows Kenneth Brown, student at Brown University, Providence, R. I., hanging on a cliff near the "Great Stone Face" in the White Mountains. The "drop" is a mere 700 feet.

JAMES M. BECK, New York, Solicitor-General of the Department of Justice, who is being mentioned as the probable successor to Ambassador Harvey to the Court of St. James.

HARVARD FALLS.—Harvard suffered its worst defeat since 1907 when it met and was defeated by Dartmouth 16-0 at Cambridge. Hawes, Dartmouth star back, is shown making a gain of twelve yards.

THIS PHOTOGRAPH OF ROYALTY CAUSES ROW.—This informal photograph of the Queen of Jugo-Slavia and the new-born Crown Prince has caused a furore in court circles. It is said to be the first picture of a royal woman with her hair down.

KING OBERON'S WICKED PLOT
Part IV

"Where is our Queen?" demanded the fairies without answering the King's question.

"Hurry up and give us back our shapes," called the voices over the King. "We don't like being giants."

And the big feet began to move, while the poor little fairy King cried for the fairies to save him.

"Where is our Queen?" was the only answer the faithful fairies made. And at last King Oberon said, "In the Goblins' underground home—help me, help me, or those dreadful big feet will step on me."

"Which doorway was she taken through?" was the only reply King Oberon received.

"Behind these ferns," answered the frightened King, pointing to the ferns behind him. "Help! Save me! Help! Help!" The big feet were stepping about in a frightful manner.

Then from behind a bit of a bush came a fairy holding the old Chief of the Goblins by one ear. The head had been changed into a towering giant as his brother goblins had been.

"Open the door," commanded the fairy that held the chief by the ear, and she gave it a twist just enough to let him know she was quite well able to do more, for she held in front of him in her other hand her magic wand.

"I'll do it," I'll do it!" squeaked the little creature, his face all twisted and his eyes big with fright.

The fairy led him to the rock, which he tapped three times with one tiny hand. And he said, "Su-ot-ne-po!" And open flew the door and out stepped the stolen Queen.

All this time the giants were calling out to be given back their shapes and frightened King Oberon was begging the fairies to save him.

"Save him!" commanded the fairy queen. "Give the giants their own shapes."

It took only a minute to set everything right again. The giants were gone and on the ground scampering away towards their rocks were the

HONOR BONAR LAW'S MEMORY AT FUNERAL

Henry Whitley, Speaker of the House of Commons; Former Premier Balfour, Former Premier Asquith, Viscount Fitzalan, former Lord-Lieutenant and Governor-General of Ireland; Lord Carson, Lord Beaverbrook, Rt. Hon. Austen Chamberlain and Ramsay MacDonald, Viscount Fitzalan and Lord Carson had been closely associated with Mr. Bonar Law's political career, the former as Chief Whip of the Unionist Party, and the latter in the fight to keep Ireland a part of the United Kingdom. Lord Beaverbrook was there as one of the dead statesman's most intimate personal friends and advisers.

The group of mourners following the bearers included his daughters, Lady Sykes, and Miss Catherine; his sons, H. R. and R. K. Law; his sister, Miss Law, and his son-in-law, Major-General Sir Frederick Sykes.

The opening sentences of the burial service were chanted by the choir in its procession to the west door. Afterwards the Dean read the 23rd Psalm and the lesson from the 11th Chapter of Revelations, verses one to seven. Then followed the hymn, "The Strife is Over, the Battle Done," and to the notes of the organ the mourners followed the coffin through the choir to the place of burial in the second south bay. Then the choir sang "God Save the King," and the notes of the organ the mourners followed the coffin through the choir to the place of burial in the second south bay. Then the choir sang "God Save the King," and the notes of the organ the mourners followed the coffin through the choir to the place of burial in the second south bay.

"Oh, no, dear Queen," said the fairies, "one of your subjects held her wand on the chief goblin while the other fairies worked the spell on the others, because she knew we need him if you were inside the rocks. If not, you would give those tricksters their own shapes until we had you safe—we know that."

"You are all very wise fairies," said the Queen. "So now I am sure you could get along without your Queen."

"Oh, we couldn't, we couldn't," cried all the fairies, crowding about the Queen. "So now I am sure you could get along without your Queen."

"No, never," promised the Queen, and she kissed every little subject, though it took a long time to go around, and poor King Oberon was sound asleep when at last the pumpkin coach drawn by the white mice and the Queen safe inside rolled away.

The Archbishop of Canterbury pronounced the blessing.

MANY CAMPS ON EAST COAST RESUME

Logging Will Again Become Active Industry Shortly

Courtenay, Nov. 3.—Business conditions at Campbell River and other centres dependent on the lumbering and logging trade will be much bettered by the resumption of many camps, says The Comox Argus.

At Campbell River sixty men have arrived to resume work at the International Timber Company's camps, and other members of the British Columbia Loggers' Association up and down the East Coast of Vancouver Island will be resuming in the next day or two after a lay-off of four months. This will spell much brighter conditions for up-island communities.

At Duncan Bay the loggers have not come back yet, but operations will be resumed early this month.

Murphy and McDonalds have not cleaned out all their logs from Oyster Bay yet, but will do so very shortly, and the camps will then be abandoned for the company's new field of operations at Cowichan Lake.

To the south, too, association camps will be opened up, notably that near Union Bay of Blodgett and Welch.

Stewart. The dollar camps near Fanny Bay have been operating all through the summer, but at reduced strength.

At Courtenay there are still many logging trucks on the road, and the river is full of logs. In the unorganized districts outside municipalities the recent Government decree is that trucks shall not carry more than four tons, including the weight of the truck, without making extra payment to the Government for excess of load.

This will mean that practically all logging trucks in the district will have to pay excess.

Canada Represented London, Nov. 5 (Special cable to the Canadian Press by George Hamilton, staff correspondent).—Premier King, Hon. G. P. Graham, Canadian Minister of Railways and Canals, and Hon. P. C. Larkin, Canadian High Commissioner in London, represented Canada at the funeral of the late Andrew Bonar Law to-day.

Among the wreaths was a personal one from Premier King and another inscribed "From the Government and people of Canada."

SOUTH SAANICH WAS SCENE OF HALLOWE'EN PARTY

Saanichton, Nov. 5.—The Farmers' Institute of South Saanich was the host at a jolly Halloween party at the Temperance Hall, Keating, on Wednesday night, when members entertained the members of the South Saanich Women's Institute.

The hall was appropriately decorated, while the "real live ghosts," impersonated by the men, gave the proper amount of "spook" thrills.

A musical programme was given by the following local entertainers: Miss E. Gold, Mr. McClure, Mr. T. Gold, Mr. Amey, Mr. St. George, with Mrs. Stewart, Miss Russell and Mrs. E. T. Laurie as accompanists.

Mr. W. Michell acted as chairman in his usual pleasing style. Five "mystery figures" provided a jolly half hour, and the prizes for guessing the identity of these were won by Clarence Buff and Ralph Michell.

Matchless cards were the means used to secure supper partners, and in the grand march Marguerite Henshall and Mr. Ibbotson were awarded honors for being the oddest couple on the floor.

Mrs. H. Laurie and Mr. S. Robinson were the prize winners in the waltz contest, and Mr. J. Hafer won first prize in the game of "dead men's bones."

Paper head dresses were worn by the entire company and Miss Laurie was given first prize for fashioning the best cap.

The menu for supper consisted of pumpkin pies, apple pies, cake, coffee and strawberries and cream.

The ladies tendered a vote of thanks to their hosts for the pleasant evening provided. Dancing continued until one o'clock, then a circle was formed and the company joined in singing "Auld Lang Syne" and then "Good-night, Ladies" brought to a close a most successful party.

Three local schools will be represented. The function is to be held under the auspices of the Shawnigan Women's Institute.

FINDS SCHOOL IN GOOD CONDITION

Sidney Building Reported Satisfactory Both in Teaching and Structure

Special to The Times Sidney, Nov. 5.—A. C. Stewart, inspector of schools, visited the school this week. His report states that the teaching and standing of the classes is satisfactory and the building is in good condition. The auditorium which has been closed for the summer months has reopened.

Mr. and Mrs. McLaughlin, of Vancouver, who are staying in Victoria, came out to see Mrs. Knight.

An egg laying contest at Experimental Farm Station started on Thursday, November 1, and will continue for one year. Entries are from all over Vancouver Island, also Pender Island. There are thirty-four pens in the contest, each pen contains ten birds.

The Experimental Farm has entered a pen of birds all from the farm. Others who have entered are Mrs. Hurst, Miss E. Gwynne, Mr. Barker, Mr. Nelson, Mr. Clomes and Mr. Thomas, all of North Saanich; Capt. Vyvyan, of Saanichton, and eight pens from the Victoria district.

J. Copthorne, of Deep Cove, has left for his ranch at Jumping Pond, Alberta.

The dance held in the Deep Cove Social Club Hall on Friday was very enjoyable one; there were about eighty people present. Mrs. Galsoun and Howard Robinson supplied the music. During the evening there was a bean contest, Mr. McIntyre being the lucky winner. A set of hand-made dolls given by Miss Maud North. There was a most delicious supper served by Mesdames Calvert, Peck, Jones, Ross, T. North, Miss M. North and Mr. Lindesay. The supper tables were very prettily decorated.

Mrs. J. John and her daughter, Miss E. John, have gone to Long Beach, Cal., for a visit. On their way there they are to stay at Portland for a few days.

THIRD PARTY LEADER Special to The Times Metochosin, Nov. 5.—General McRae, leader of the Provincial party, is slated to speak at West Sooke on November 17, at 2:30 p.m., afterwards proceeding to Metochosin, where arrangements have been made for him to meet local people at the home of A. Gentis, chairman of the district association.

REGAINS 18 POUNDS LOST WEIGHT

Taking WINCARNIS

"I was very sick; lost almost 15 pounds in weight; was extremely weak and nervous, and could not get a single night's sound sleep. I had constant medical attention and the best of wholesome foods, but my condition grew more alarming until I began taking Wincarnis, which helped me from the first few doses.

I have completely regained my former weight and strength, sleep soundly every night, eat most heartily and have an abundance of energy. My husband and my mother were so amazed at the effect of Wincarnis in my case that they both began taking it as a tonic. Today, they are just as loud in praise of Wincarnis as I am, and we do wish it were known to every weak, nervous or run-down person."

NO ACCLAMATION IN BY-ELECTION IN HALIFAX

Halifax, Nov. 5.—That the Conservatives intend to contest the by-election in Halifax constituency made necessary by the appointment of Hon. A. K. Maclean to the Exchequer Court would seem to be indicated by a prominently displayed item in The Mail stating Right Hon. Arthur Meighen had called upon the Conservatives of Halifax County to contest the seat. In the same issue an advertisement appears on behalf of Conservative headquarters asking friends of the party to lend their votes "for the coming by-election in the County of Halifax."

Liberal-Conservative meetings to choose a delegate for a convention to name a candidate are also advertised.

A Liberal convention is scheduled for November 14.

Volunteer Club Sale—The Volunteer Club, an organization of girls who have met at the homes of members throughout the year to sew for the W.C.T.U. home and other philanthropies, will hold a tea and sale of work at the home of Miss Amy Conyers, 1419 Fort Street, on Saturday afternoon next. There will be an attractive musical programme. The proceeds of the affair will be devoted to the club's fund for providing Christmas hampers for a number of very needy families.

VOTE AGAINST TITLES IN NEW SOUTH WALES

Special to The Times.

Sydney, Australia, Nov. 4.—Voting thirty-nine to thirty-four, the Assembly of the State of New South Wales defeated the Government, many of whose members, recently been made knights, on the issue that no more titles should be awarded in the state.

The vote was a triumph of tactics by the Labor Opposition, which for years has been endeavoring to get Parliament to follow Canada's example.

Speakers denounced recent appointments to knighthoods and revealed how many of them had been obtained by contributions to party funds and other underhand means. One member excitedly declared after the vote: "Now we shall have no more dreadful knights in New South Wales."

WINDOW SEATS FOR PROCESSION TAXED

London, Nov. 5 (Canadian Press cable).—Considerable amusement has been aroused by a decision of the High Court that a procession is an entertainment and that a window seat rented for the purpose of viewing a procession is liable to the entertainment tax.

The case arose in an appeal from a decision of justices at Preston, where a hotelkeeper let seats to persons at a certain price to view the guild carnival processions. The hotel man refused to pay the tax imposed by the town, but the justices held that he was liable therefor.

CANADA'S HEROES HONORED IN MEMORIAL CHAIN

From East to West Every City, Town and Hamlet Testifies to Undying Glory of Those Who Gave Their Lives in the Great War; War Memorials, In Many Instances, Comprise the Highest Beauty Known to Architecture

From east to west Canada remembers for all time the sacrifice of her sons overseas in the conflict which threw Europe in a seething cauldron of blood and iron. This remembrance has taken the form of permanent war memorials raised in every centre by people grateful for the freedom purchased at such a price.

During the past five years almost every community in the Dominion has been able to set apart a little plot of ground to erect thereon a memorial to those who, at the call, left all that was dear to them, endured hardship, faced danger and finally passed out of sight of man by the path of duty and self-sacrifice.

These memorials have been erected to such an extent throughout Canada that a visitor on tour could not but be impressed by the manner in which the fallen are honored. Every city, every town and every village has remembered its debt to those who remained overseas. Feeling that the sacrifice and devotion of these men was worthy of their best citizens of all and particularly the smaller towns subscribed readily and generously to the memorial funds with the result that there are in Canada some of the finest and most beautiful war memorials in the world.

Among the most fitting of tributes to those who served is the memorial erected at St. Lambert, Quebec. Banging accoutrements are no impediment to this private Canadian soldier in attack. This is a statue that lacks only the breath of life, and it requires no allegorical figure to support it—truly a memorial to Canada's fighting men.

Angel of Victory

Other remarkable memorials are those of like design, which command prominent positions at the Canadian Pacific Montreal, Winnipeg and Vancouver stations. A huge but finely sculptured figure of the "Angel of Victory" supports a Canadian soldier in one arm, while with the other holds aloft and before him the Crown of Victory—a beautiful memorial to those in the service of the Canadian Pacific Railway who gave up their lives.

The Westmount, Quebec, memorial, raised by public subscription, is somewhat similar. The angel, uncrowned, points the way to victory, and, facing the city hall, looks upon the first of an avenue of trees which extends for miles along Sherbrooke Street, the main thoroughfare, each tree planted in memory of one of the fallen.

Another outstanding memorial is the one recently unveiled in the village of Almonte, Ont. This was erected by the village and was made in accordance with a request made by Lieutenant Alexander B. Ross, a man who fell at Courcellette. It is shown here, a beautiful bronze figure of a Canadian officer, typical of the best that the Dominion sent overseas.

The cenotaph erected at Norva, Vancouver, B. C., and Hamilton, Ont., are also worthy of note, as they are fine exemplifications of modern art.

Memorial Avenue

Victoria has dedicated Memorial Avenue to her soldier dead. When this scheme is complete the avenue will be lined with trees and at each end of the highway will be erected a magnificent arch.

In various sections of Vancouver Island permanent memorials have been erected. At Nanaimo a permanent war memorial has been erected in that city. At Cobble Hill a stone column stands as a permanent memorial.

A stone cross of sacrifice has been erected in the main thoroughfare of Duncan.

A stone memorial has been built at Chemainus, Esquimalt, the naval base, has its memorial.

The citizens of Bankhead, Alta., a little community of less than a thousand souls, lost six sons at the front, and these men are honored by a monument of rough hewn granite, in keeping with the rugged foothills of the Rocky Mountains where the village is situated, a few miles east of Banff. The people of Bankhead have reason to be proud of the memorial. Like the people of other small towns, they responded readily.

Fernie Memorial

Fernie, B. C., with a population of about 4,000, has also remembered its soldiers well. High on an inscribed pedestal, with the glorious Rockies as a background, with which harmonizes well the figure of a Canadian soldier stands, as if by the grave of a fallen comrade.

Rossland, B. C., has set an example in that it has provided a suitable cover for the gun captured from the Germans by men from that district, and erected before a memorial column protected by an iron rail, the four corners of which are supported by lamp standards. The Rossland memorial is infused with the atmosphere of the rugged mining town.

That Canada played a most glorious part in the Great War needs no reiteration. That her service enlistments totaled half a million men, 60,000 of whom made the supreme sacrifice, is part of the Dominion's proudest history. Every village, every settlement and outpost, as well as every city sent its boys to the "spearhead of the Allied armies." A proud record they made for themselves and for Canada, and though five years have passed since the signing of the armistice—which brought to a cessation the most terrible conflict the world has known, the courage of the Canadian troops and the whole act of heroism which caused Canada's name to ring reverberant yet, are not forgotten.

CLUB IS FORMED BY INVENTORS

"Inventors' Association" is Created at Meeting on Saturday Night

An interesting meeting was held on Saturday evening in Harmony Hall, where local inventors and friends decided to form a club to be known temporarily as "The Inventors' Association." A good number were present and in open discussion many interesting points were raised. After passing a vote of thanks to the Rev. W. H. Barton for the use of the hall, it was decided to hold a further meeting on Saturday in Harmony Hall, when it is expected that all who are interested in the promotion of creative thought will attend. Mr. Barton occupied the chair, and he will take the office of secretary next meeting, when Matthew Allen will occupy the chair.
